Please contact us on cltinternational@centlaw.com at least 72 hours prior to the examination if you cannot locate your username or password, or cannot access the online learning platform using the username and password you have.
- Ahead of the examination, please ensure that you can open .pdf documents on the device that you will be using to complete the examination. You can test this by attempting to open any document in .pdf format on the online learning platform.

3. Examination Protocol

- The examination is open-book. This means that you may consult your course materials and other texts or websites. However, we strictly prohibit copying and pasting large passages of text from the course materials or any other source without appropriate referencing. You are permitted to cite from course materials or any other sources to support your answers, however, please ensure that you reference any direct quotes clearly using quotation marks.

Indirect quotes or paraphrasing should also be attributed to the original source. Please note that application of knowledge is an assessment requirement, and you are expected to interpret materials into your own words when answering essay-based examination or assignment questions. Copied content will be identifiable and could lead to investigation under the Policy on Academic Malpractice, which may affect the mark that you are awarded for your answer.

Chatbots are a form of artificial intelligence (AI) that can generate detailed responses to requests for information. CLT International permits the use of chatbots only when used as a part of learner research. However, chatbots can be unreliable, biased and may generate irrational responses. Therefore, extreme caution should be exercised if a chatbot is used as a research tool, and it is unacceptable to use a chatbot to attempt to generate the text for your assessment. If any part of the text generated by a chatbot is used in any way, in work submitted to CLT International, it must be fully and correctly referenced. Be warned that a key part of your learning experience with CLT International is the requirement that you present your own original work in assessments. Large amounts of text, taken from any source, even if correctly referenced, will attract penalties since this provides no evidence of original work on your part.

- All answers must be the candidate's own original work. Consultation and/or collusion with others is strictly prohibited. Self-plagiarism (i.e. use of content you have submitted for another examination previously, whether with CLTI or elsewhere) is strictly prohibited.
- All answers will be submitted through a plagiarism detection software and cases of suspected academic malpractice will be dealt with under the Policy on Academic Malpractice available on the online learning platform.
- By submitting an answer you are agreeing to the below declaration:

‘I declare that this work is entirely my own in accordance with the STEP/CLTI Policy on Academic Malpractice. All external references and sources are clearly acknowledged and identified within the contents.’

4. Submitting your Answers for Section B

- Answers must be submitted via the examination submission portal on the online learning platform. You will be able to find this in the Final Assessment section of the online learning platform via a link.
- You are responsible for ensuring that you submit the correct file. We recommend that you review your file prior to submission to ensure all your answers are included. If you accidentally submit an incorrect file, you should contact CLT International immediately.
- You will only be permitted to upload one file.
- Answers must be submitted by the submission deadline. Answers submitted after this time will be subject to the following penalties:

Time of submission	Penalty applied ¹
Answer submitted up to 30 minutes after the answer submission deadline	10% deduction
Answer submitted between 31-60 minutes after the answer submission deadline	15% deduction
Answer submitted more than 60 minutes after the answer submission deadline	Not accepted

¹ Where a candidate has additional time following an application for reasonable adjustments, penalties will apply in the same way based on the individual candidate's submission time. Please contact cltinternational@centlaw.com if you have any queries.

Answers submitted more than 60 minutes after the answer submission deadline will not be accepted and a mark of 0 will be awarded. Penalties will be applied based on the available marks for your examination. By way of example, a 10% deduction for an examination with 100 available marks would incur a 10 mark deduction.

You will be notified by email on the day your results are released where a penalty has been applied to your overall result.

- We strongly recommend that you do not leave it too close to the answer submission deadline to submit your answer. You should allow time to resolve any unexpected problems. If technical problems prevent you from successfully submitting your work, you must contact CLT International prior to the submission deadline. Penalties cannot be removed because the network was busy around the time of the submission deadline.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. What happens if I encounter an issue with Internet connectivity during my examination?

You do not need to be online while you are completing the whole of your examination. Internet is however required for completing the online MCQs in Section A, downloading the Section B questions, or when uploading and submitting your answers to Section B. If you are aware of any connectivity issues prior to the examination, you should take appropriate steps to rectify these. The duration of the examination period allows for additional time to cover any unexpected IT issues. However, if, on the day of the examination, you experience unexpected connectivity issues that impact your ability to complete or submit your examination, please contact CLT International as soon as possible.

2. How should I prepare for my examination?

We encourage you to prepare for your examination by reviewing and understanding the materials, using the self-test resources on the platform, and practising by using the specimen examination paper(s) and any other revision materials available for your programme. You will have limited time during the examination to look up answers to questions and most questions will require you to apply your knowledge of the material to a practical scenario.

3. I don't have a printer at home to print out the examination paper. What should I do?

There is no requirement to print out the examination paper. You can complete the paper by referring to it on screen.

4. Can I complete my examination using any software?

Yes, but we would recommend that you use Microsoft Word or other similar Word processing software.

5. Should I incorporate reading time into my examination?

The duration of the examination is four hours and you can choose to use this time as you wish. However, we would strongly recommend that you take time at the start of the examination to read the questions carefully and plan the structure of your answers.

6. What happens if I feel unwell on the day of the examination?

You should only attempt the examination if you feel well enough to take it. If you do not feel that you will be able to perform to your best, we would strongly advise that you defer to the next sitting. Please refer to our Fit to Sit Policy on what declarations you are agreeing to by sitting the examination.

If you do attempt the examination but feel that your performance has been significantly affected by an unforeseeable or unpreventable event occurring in close proximity to the examination, CLTI has a Policy on Mitigating Circumstances under which you may be eligible to apply before your results are released. Please contact us on cltinternational@centlaw.com to discuss as soon as possible after the examination.

7. Can I decide to defer once I have seen the examination paper?

No, once the examination paper has been published you cannot defer to a future sitting. If you choose not to attempt the examination or not to submit your answer, you will be awarded a mark of 0 and your next attempt (provided you are within the permitted number) will be classed as a re-sit.
